

TO DEFEAT BOND ISSUE

Old Street Bone of Contention in Petersburg Paving Plan.

NO SPEAKER FOR PETERSBURG

Celebration of the Commencement of Work on Diversion Scheme Awaits Martin.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., October 15.—Opposition to the extensive plan of street improvement, recently offered by the Board of Aldermen and Council, and generally regarded as practically assured, is developing along the line of a proposed effort to defeat the $70,000 bond issue necessary to the appropriation for the paving of the roadways of those streets selected for this year's work, unless Old Street is included. The omission of Old Street from the list of favored boulevards was the opening gun of the street thrills, which the friends of that avenue waged valiantly, but to no avail, as the resolution to include that highway was defeated in the Council by a vote of ten to nine when the question of the accuracy of the record vote arose, and followed a lively discussion, which still continues.

The Old Street champions declared that the vote was exactly the reverse of the record, and claimed that they could secure from ten councilmen affidavits they voted for Old Street at the preceding meeting.

AFFIDAVITS.

It is authoritatively stated that these affidavits will be presented at the next meeting of the Council, which promises to be an event of no little interest to the public and importance to the city.

The improvement of the disputed street is claimed as a necessity, and its advocates maintain that as one of the most heavily used roadways in the city, it should take precedence over which have been selected.

Get my finger in the pie or there will be no pie.

Politics in Petersburg are as quiet as the grave in which it is proposed to bury the Republic vote on November 8th, but speeches are being made throughout the district by Judge W. H. Mann, Judge L. D. Yarrall and Mr. Charles T. Lassiter.

Why the published list of appointments for the Democratic ticket was important to this city is a question that seems to occasion more amusement than regret.

Judge Charles Alexander, of Mecklenburg county, the Republican congressional nominee in this district, will give his campaign in Yorkton on next Monday.

CELEBRATION POSTPONED.

Senator Martin has notified the Chamber of Commerce that he will be unable to come to Petersburg next week, and as he had planned to attend the celebration at the beginning of work on the diversion of the Appomattox River is very much desired, the entertainment has been postponed.

The new traffic bridge across the Appomattox River, by the changing of the channel, is rapidly taking form.

The jury for the September term of the Hustings Court of this city has been discharged. The October term begins on the 20th.

Fredericksburg Notes.

Hays, Company A, Seventeenth Regiment, Virginia Volunteers, of this city, and has placed him upon the retired list with rank of captain. An election will be held within thirty days to fill the vacancy. First-Lieutenant Thomas M. Larkin will probably be a fine race horse, bred and raised by Duff Green, of this city, now owned by his brother, won a splendid race on Thursday at New York. Politics in Highland.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

MONTEREY, VA., October 14.—The only political speech made in Highland during the present campaign was by ex-Congressman Jacob Yost Thursday last. The campaign in Highland has been unusually quiet, several precincts in the county having no registered voters. The only voters registered by L. S. Dickenson on the day of sitting, Congressman H. D. Flood is billed for the 21st at Monterey, and will speak at other points in the county.

Can't Speak Here.

Governor C. B. Aycock, of North Carolina, and Senator J. B. Bayne have written chairman Doherty that it will be impossible for them to speak here during the campaign, owing to previous engagements elsewhere.

SHOT HIMSELF AT FIRST WIFE'S GRAVE

Norfolk Fireman Supposed to Have Unsettled Mind.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 15.—James Bryan, a driver in Engine Company No. 2, of the Norfolk Fire Department, shot himself at the grave of his first wife in Elmwood Cemetery to-day, and is in a critical condition at St. Vincent's Hospital.

This is the third or fourth time that Bryan has attempted to take his life in the same fashion.

Not long ago he was in the Police Court upon the charge of attempting to shoot his present wife in the yard of their home, on Chapel Street. The accused denied that he tried to shoot his wife, and Mrs. Ryan substantiated this statement.

The case was dismissed, and Bryan, who had been suspended from the fire department pending a trial, was at once reinstated.

Bryan's first wife was a Miss Moore, of Hunkersville. She has been dead for some time.

It is said that the suicide's mind is supposed to have become unbalanced.

GIRLS SEE MISS ADAMS.

They Crowded the Academy Yesterday Afternoon.

Maude Adams closed her engagement here yesterday with matinee and evening performances at the Academy. It was well for the girls of the city, as the actress had been arranged, otherwise several hundred of them would have been sadly disappointed.

The actress, who is a native of this city, is a most popular favorite with the girls of the city. To the former, she is just too dear and sweet for anything.

There is a story that Miss Adams' portrait was taken at the Academy, and that the girls of the city must all be called an excellent portrait of the actress, even after the performance of the actress of the role.

It is but fair to Miss Adams to acknowledge that, when she was in the city, she declared that they did not see how the latter could be any better. And now that Miss Adams is in the city, she is in the role, and has been lauded to the skies, this writer being one to worship at the shrine, Miss Adams' portrait, who has not been banished from the mind, but still lives pleasantly in the memory.

It has been stated in these columns that Miss Adams appeared in Richmond as a child. This is quite true, according to Miss Adams' own statement yesterday, but she may not even remember the name of the play.

This evening of smiles, as the ladies have seen fit to call the entertainment, will give the public an opportunity to see the famous actress, Maude Adams, in the role of the Street Car Y. M. C. A., and the ladies hope for a very large attendance.

WOLF AT HIS DOOR.

Strange and Ferocious Animal Again Makes Appearance.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

GIRTSBY, VA., October 15.—Mr. Philip C. Barker, an old soldier and reliable citizen, came into the village this morning with the news that at his home on last night, a wolf came up to his front door and nearly scared his little daughter to death, upon which he fired a shot, which killed the animal. The wolf was shot dead and its body was found in the yard. It did not get within shooting distance and the wolf escaped.

This is the third instance where some wild beast has disturbed the peace of homes in this county. Two cases having been reported in the Times-Dispatch of late.

This strange animal had been seen at the houses of John Walker and Tom Jones, colored.

MOORE IS BAILED.

The Funeral of Boyle Will Take Place This Afternoon.

Calvin H. Moore was bailed by Judge Witt in the Hustings Court yesterday in the sum of $5,000 for his appearance in the Circuit Court on the 20th instant. Mr. Rufus Williams, by whom Moore is employed, is bailing him.

Friends of Mr. Moore seem to be as true as steel. Many are contributing from slender means to a fund for employing lawyers to defend him and they will spare neither effort nor expense to have justice done him.

The funeral of T. H. Boyle, killed by Moore, will take place from his sister's residence at 8 o'clock this afternoon.

KIDNAPPED A GIRL.

G. C. Ward Under Arrest With Serious Charge Against Him.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ROANOKE, VA., October 15.—George C. Ward, a young man employed in the west end yard, was arrested this morning charged with kidnapping for immoral purposes, a young girl named Jessie Lee, daughter of Mrs. Emma Coles, of Lynchburg.

The girl claims that she met Ward at the depot in Lynchburg last night and he persuaded her to come to Roanoke as a companion for his mother. When she reached her home, she was found by her mother and a colored man ran and informed the police who arrested the young man.

The girl was sent to Lynchburg to-day. The girl says she had been in a visit to Bedford and expected her brother to meet her and it was while she was waiting for him she met Ward. She is seventeen and he is twenty-two.

Was a Hung Jury.

In the Law and Equity Court yesterday the jury in the case of J. V. Va. vs. the Trans-Continental Company for $5,000 alleged damages, were discharged, having been unable to agree upon a verdict.

BULLS ARE IN CONTROL

Indications Favor Further Improvements in Prices on the Stock Market.

DEMAND FOR SECURITIES

Season of Great Activity in Wall Street Expected After the Election.

The stock market during the past week broadened considerably and speculative sentiment continues bullish, indications favoring further improvement in prices for the coming week, especially in the industrials and low priced railroad shares.

Confidence on the part of banking interests, as reflected in the purchase of new railroad bond issues; encouraging reports regarding the business situation; the gain by the banks from the sub-treasury, which during the week amounted to over $6,000,000, and the good showing of Saturday's bank statement, all operated on the side of market improvement.

Other bullish news which developed in the latter part of the week was the sale of $5,000,000 of the four per cent. bonds of the Central Pacific Railway Company, and of $5,000,000 bonds of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company. These sales, added to the issue of $10,000,000 general consolidated four per cent. bonds of the Lehigh Valley, have created a confidence which is felt in the existing financial situation.

Good crops and the encouraging state of the iron and steel industry, which has laid the foundation for another year of prosperity. In fact everything points to a growing confidence in the recovery market.

Fears and Not Facts.

With all this favorable news, one should not be surprised at the increasing demand from investors for interest and dividend paying securities. The security market has about the test of protracted dullness, following extreme depression in a way to demonstrate inherent strength. It is perfectly plain now that the low prices of September, 1903, and May, 1904, were unwarranted; equally plain that they were brought about by fear and not facts.

The real buying since last spring has been confined almost wholly to the security market. The demand for interest and dividend paying securities has been steadily increasing. The demand for interest and dividend paying securities has been steadily increasing. The demand for interest and dividend paying securities has been steadily increasing.
